Fort Lauderdale, Florida

Chosen By: Sarah Funk is a travel show host and blogger. She is frequently seen on Travel + Leisure and has been to over over 40 countries.

Why: Greater Fort Lauderdale is having a modern-day renaissance. The beach town has transformed into a luxurious getaway for the hip and young. Its sandy shores are crowd free with swaying palm trees and miles of peaceful beaches like Pompano and Lauderdale-By-The-Sea. Sophisticated hotels, like the Conrad, dot the beaches and new luxury hotels are on the way, like the Four Seasons Hotel & Private Residences, slated to open in 2020. Yet millennials can also find a place they will love at the W Hotel or Plunge Hotel. The culinary scene is also a masterpiece with upscale eateries serving dishes from around the world and new high-end restaurants continuing to emerge. Have a meal at Valentino Cucina Italiana, Louie Bossi's or Monkitaill and your taste buds will thank you. In addition, the city is riding a new wave as a craft-beer destination with 15 local
